Spotlight on Ann Taylor

L'Amey America adds two new optical styles to its Ann Taylor collection. Inspired by the brand's modern elegant design and seasonal color palette, the two new women's styles are constructed in stainless steel and offer luxurious details, elegance and timeless sophistication. Style 109 features a subtle upswept butterfly shape with contrasting coloration on the brows that is matched with colorblocking details on the flat metal temples. Style 110 is defined by its deep butterfly silhouette with angular outer line enameling in triple colorations that is paired with rounded temples. The Ann Taylor logo is placed outside the endtips blending with multi-hued patterned acetate.
